presents

A Lecture By

Professor Chigbo Ekwealo

ONTOLOGICAL CHALLENGES IN AFRICAN ENVIRONMENTAL PHILOSOPHY

Contemporary African environmental thinking due to colonialism and globalisation is monoideitic, resulting in separatist, linear associations and relations.

In this lecture, Professor Ekwealo will argue for new consciousness through a return to pre-colonial African principles and ideas. This is the imperative for holistic growth and progress.

Professor Ekwealo is a visiting scholar with the Center for Environmental Philosophy. He comes to us from the University of Lagos in Nigeria where he studied and taught environmental philosophy and African philosophy.

Monday, January 30, 3:00 pm in EESAT 320A

This lecture is free and open to the public.
